Port Augusta Racing Club

In 2011 Port Augusta Racing Club Celebrates 130 years since racing began.

Thoroughbred racing has a long history in Port Augusta and began when the City was a shipping port, linking South Australia's Outback to the world.

The Port Augusta Racing Club hosted its first race meeting in November 1881 and because of hot and dusty conditions, future race meetings were scheduled to be held in winter.

Port Augusta's central location sees it as the heart of horse racing in the Spencer Gulf, with the majestic Flinders Ranges providing a spectacular backdrop to the Port Augusta racecourse, and its facilities make it a premier site for racing.

The newly reopened Hannahville Hotel Public Bar, newly refurbished Hardy's Members and Sponsors Bar, the betting ring and the historic grandstand are just some of the great facilities at the Port Augusta racecourse, which comes alive when racing hits the 2100m track.

Racing is enjoying a resurgence in popularity and the Port Augusta Racing Club provides a great day out for all patrons at its race meetings.

Feature Days for 2011 include Ladies PINK Day (a fundraiser for the McGrath Foundation), and the Flinders Ranges & Outback Race Day, with another major event to be confirmed for the last race day of the season.

And of course there is the annual Port Augusta Cup with thousands attending the popular July race meeting which is always a day of great racing action, fashion and fun. Port Augusta's mild winter weather, fantastic location and great track always make this a much anticipated social event.
